In this two-unit course you will apply the core principles of the Berkeley Changemaker® curriculum by:

- Critically exploring a full understanding of an issue affecting human health,
- Collaborating with diverse colleagues on a team to investigate solutions, and
- Communicating what you've learned and giving feedback to your classmates.

This course uses two learning methods: a group project exploring an Area of Interest, and weekly conversations with a Human Health Changemaker.

Syllabus and past course reviews at:
lsec.berkeley.edu/bc-hh

You will come to understand the intricacies of your selected Area of Interest, with deep insights into the pros and cons of different solutions. You will also see your own role in being a Changemaker in an area of Human Health.

Each week you will also learn from guest speakers, and you will learn from your classmates about their Areas of Interest, and benefit from their discoveries and feedback.

- Darren Cooke, Director of the Life Sciences Entrepreneurship Center, and Berkeley Haas Faculty
